HANLEY SENIORS

Magic was in the air at the Seniors' Centre on October 1st with magician Ben Who entertaining all who attended. Ben provided a fun 3/4 of an hour delivery of magic, jokes and ventriloquism much to the delight of mature adults and youth alike.

Bingo, bingo where ya gonna go-e-o, oh no that was Bimbo wasn't it? Well anyway the first Thursday of the month, October 3rd was the monthly bingo event and lunch held at the Senior's Centre. Come out and play with us sometime!

Weekly exercises are every Wednesday and Friday starting at 9:30 am and cards starting at 2:00pm.

Special events coming up are:

- October 30 at 6:30 – speaker from Golder Associates – environmental energy
- November 17 at 2:30 – movie
- November 29 at 3:00 – motivational speaker, Cecile Small

On September 21, family gathered to celebrate the 100th birthday of Norma Libke. The festivities were held at the Parkridge Centre in Saskatoon. Son and daughter-in-law, Gordon and Pat and daughter Shirley along with 7 grandchildren and their spouses attended with all 10 great-grandchildren present. Sisters Florence and Lucille were by her side as well helping to blow out the candles. In all, 45 people attended. Family came from as far away as British Columbia. Great food, visiting, and memories of the past were abound. There were two rounds of happy birthday as well as other great songs played on the piano by the talented Joan Libke.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE

The Executive of the Centennial Committee met on the morning of Oct. 7. A number of items were discussed to be presented to a meeting of members of the Centennial Committee including a new constitution, rental rates, bookings, and the insurance premium. Everyone is invited to attend a regular meeting of the Board to give us your ideas and to help us shape the future of the Centennial Hall. Posters will go up around Town for this meeting scheduled Tues, Oct. 22 @ 7 pm in the Clubroom of the hall.

CREEKS & DRAINAGE DITCHES

Please refrain from driving bikes or ATV's in the drainage ditches. They stay wet and these vehicles will rut the areas making maintenance (grass cutting) difficult.

PONDS & AQUARIUMS

The Public Works Foreman would like to inform people with ponds & aquariums that as our water is chloraminated rather than chlorinated you may need to properly use the de-chlorine tablets. Be sure to read the label!

A sincere thank you from the family of Henry Harder for all of the support and kindness shown throughout his illness and passing. The generosity of the community was greatly appreciated during that difficult time.

Hanley/Rosedale Fire Department

If you are interested in joining the Hanley/Rosedale volunteer fire department, please talk to one of the members to find out what is involved. It takes a small amount of time every week to learn what to do as a volunteer. More members are always needed.

The fire department has received a donation of equipment and they are very thankful for that.

You can help the fire department raise money and at the same time have fun. Come to the Hanley Community Hall for the fire hall fundraiser on October 26. It includes a steak supper, silent auction and comedian. Get your tickets at the Town Office, Brightwater Insurance, Hanley Hardware or Trailbreak. The winners of two free tickets to the fundraiser are Allen & Lillian Patkau.

Donations can also be dropped off at the town office during regular business hours.

HANLEY COMPOSITE SCHOOL

As seems to be the case every year, it feels like we've already been here for months instead of weeks, as so much seems to fill the day and the before and after school times for the students and staff at Hanley Composite School. It's great to see the students back in the school and in the gym and on the field. High School students are settling into their timetables, and our encouragement will be that parents be involved in conversations with their children about credits and prerequisite courses for any programs students may want to enter after Grade 12. We welcome the new students to our school, including our Grade 7s from Dundurn. We hope you make plans to have the best year you can and remember, now it's your school too, so get involved! We have a total beginning enrollment of 230 students this year K-12 which is up a little from last year and also, great to hear! We have a number of teams that have been at practice and competing already this month. I heard mention this week of a Chess club starting as well – sounds like a great idea!! For further information and updates from the students and classrooms, check out our school website at <http://blogs.spiritsd.ca/hanley/>.

NOTES FROM THE TOWN OFFICE*August Council Meeting highlights:

As part of the Town Council's asset management program, the Council purchased a new tractor and GPS system (at the September meeting). Town Foreman, Ben Collins, will be able to map the Town's entire infrastructure (water mains, hydrants, manholes, streets, sidewalks, etc.) and with each water and sewer installation or repair, the depth of the lines can be mapped for future reference. The back-up generator at the water plant has also been placed and plumbed in and just needs to get wired into the building. Another aspect of asset management is the flushing of another section of the Town's sewer mains. Last year the southern end of the Town was completed and this fall the northern section will be completed. Unfortunately you may have noticed an odor while your street was being done but hopefully the smell didn't last too long. This maintenance should prevent any blockage of sewage mains.

The Policy Manual was updated to clarify that the Town will supply water curbstops to new buildings. The Policy Manual is a living document which is reviewed on a regular basis.

The Council became more aggressive with lot cleanups and they would like to see responsibility shown by owners to care for their property so reminders or nuisance declarations aren't required.

September Council Meeting highlights:

Another offer to purchase Block 9, Plan H5352 was received by Council and the motion to accept the offer was defeated.

A bylaw to permit the operation of all-terrain vehicles of roadways within the Town limits was adopted. The contents of this bylaw can be viewed on the Town of Hanley webpage or at the Town Office.

The Council has been conducting a waste rate review for the transfer station.

Unfortunately, we lost a valued Council member when Russell King passed away. Council conducted a by-election with Doreen Smith your new Town Councillor.

A quotation was accepted from Potzus Ltd. for the reclamation of the entire Railway St. (the old highway) as this work is eligible under the PDAP program from 2011. The surface should hopefully be easier to maintain following this reclamation. The RM of Rosedale are doing some work with this company at the same time.

A sponsorship was awarded to Hunter Matycio and she was very successful in her endeavors at the Provincial level coming home with the 2013 Wee Pee Championship in Provincial Western Horsemanship and Reserve Championship Wee Pee Western Pleasure Rider and she was also crowned 2013 SRCA Provincial Queen! Congratulations Hunter!

The Council proclaimed the month of October 2013 as "Breast Cancer Awareness Month". Watch for activities scheduled in Town for these research projects.

Foreman Ben Collins attended a Basic Emergency Management course and a water treatment disinfection workshop. It is important for Town employees to attend educational opportunities to assist in the efficient management of the Town.

Your CAO, Darice Carlson, applied for the Community Rink Affordability Grant as soon as the links were released. This grant through the Saskatchewan Parks & Recreation Association, provides $2500 for each of the arena and curling rink to be used for operational purposes. We received it last year and it helped to pay for repairs to the pumps at the curling rink and wages & utility bills at the arena.

The Hanley Composite School and Town of Hanley worked co-operatively once again on grant funding and were able to procure new benches and bleachers for the school grounds!

The Town Council has had delegations attending regular meetings to raise concerns in the community. The following paragraphs are taken from "A Citizen's Guide to Shaping Council Decisions":

Meet with Council - Talking with individual council members at the local restaurant, skating rink, or other places is not the same as meeting with council. Municipal decisions are made collectively by members of council at a council meeting. Citizens desiring to influence policy should be prepared to attend a council meeting to address all members of council at one time.

Getting on the agenda

Contact the administrator to identify the municipality's requirements to be placed on the agenda to meet with council. The municipality may have enacted a council procedures bylaw which will lay out these rules, or they may have unwritten practices which have evolved over the years. These rules or practices may address some or all of the following:

- a deadline by which a request to be placed on the agenda must be filed with the administrator;
- the requirement for a written summary of the major items being addressed in the presentation to council; or
- a time limit to present the matter to council.

Prepare for the meeting

Proper preparation for the meeting with council will enhance, but not guarantee, the success of your presentation. You should ensure that you are fully knowledgeable regarding the matter at hand. Consider the following points:

- Clearly identify the issue. If there are other non-relevant matters which you wish to address, it may be beneficial to deal with those at another time. Including too many items at one time may minimize action on any of the items;
- Outline the research procedures and outcomes. Withholding the identity of those persons with whom you have discussed the issue may cast doubt on the credibility of the results of those discussions. Include the source of external data to enable others to compare the current situation with the other situations you have identified;
- Propose alternatives to council. It should be presumed that council carefully considered the matter and made its decision based on a long-term benefit to the municipality. Proposing constructive alternative ideas may be viewed positively by council, particularly in those circumstances where action should be taken by council and where the status quo is not a publicly acceptable option;
- Rationalize the alternatives. Just as members of council should be prepared to provide reasoning for their decisions, be prepared to provide reasons for your suggestions. You may wish to constructively offer reasons why council's position may not be the best option;
- Be prepared to answer questions. The presentation, and the written summary if one was provided, may not have adequately addressed all of the considerations associated with the issue; and
- Be aware there may be resistance to new proposals. Try to keep the discussion focussed on the matter at hand.

At the meeting

The delegation to the council meeting may be comprised of one citizen or a group of citizens. Where there are multiple attendees, it is important that a single person is designated as the spokesperson for the group. Among other things, there are two important considerations which the group may wish to think about when determining its spokesperson.

- Does the person have good speaking skills? If not, the presentation may drift from its main intention, or the speaker may be unable to maintain council's focus on the issue.
- Does the person have a poor social or business relationship with one or more members of council? If so, these biases may emerge during the discussion and may compromise the merits of the points being raised. Citizens attending the meeting, but not actively participating in the presentation, should refrain from cheering, applauding, or other such actions. These actions may detract from the merits of the views being expressed to council, generating unwarranted resistance. The attendance of supporters should by itself clearly demonstrate there is support for alternative actions. Following the presentation, members of council may pose a question to which the spokesperson may not be the best respondent. In this case, you should ask council's approval to defer the question to one of the other citizen delegates. When the presentation and questions have concluded, your status will shift from a delegate to an observer. You are entitled to observe council's deliberations with certain exceptions. Your attendance, however, is on the condition that you do not disrupt members' debate. Consider the effect your continued presence may have on those deliberations. While some councillors may be comfortable debating publicly, many have difficulty with this aspect of their role. In some specific instances council can close a meeting to the public. If this should occur, you may be asked to leave the council chambers; however, you are entitled to return when council reconvenes the open meeting following those confidential discussions. Council may then pass a motion regarding the issue. Alternatively, there may be no resolution, signifying that council intends to take no action regarding the matter.

Following the meeting

In the days following the meeting, the municipality may provide you with written confirmation on the outcome of the meeting with council. A written response signifies conclusion of this phase of citizen involvement and ensures that all parties are aware of council's decision. You may wish to clarify your expectation of a written follow-up either during the presentation to council or afterwards with the administrator.

Public Meeting of Voters

A public meeting of voters is not the same as a meeting of council. This public meeting is typically convened to discuss a specific matter and serves to create awareness and build community understanding of the topic. The outcome of this meeting is not binding on council – it will simply provide council with an opinion poll of those who attended, and possibly a recommended course of action. The final decision regarding the matter resides with council.
